

PROGRAM

Off-piste skiing, on virgin terrain, in an isolated environment, is perhaps the ultimate expression of skiing; absolute freedom, the ability to turn wherever you want without the imposition of nets, signs, or poles. Freedom, however, requires its own rules, imposed not by law, but by nature.

That's why we offer this two-day course, to teach you how to assess conditions, adjust your skiing in fresh snow, and how to act correctly in the event of an avalanche accident.

Day 1: A day dedicated to off-piste skiing and descent techniques in the Monterosa-ski area, with a practical lesson on avalanche beacon search and self-rescue.

Day 2: A day dedicated to off-piste skiing, and possibly, depending on the group members' ability, searching for steep couloirs where you can practice safe descent techniques.
